Introduction

Among the major issues that can cause in the occupational environment, level of study, the question of the existence of the expertise and labor fields (Nekooyi Moghadam et.al. 2011). Our staff, more than in the past about his life, work and thought are concerned, they are safe, long-term jobs and they want to frustrate them and their progress on the job. On the other hand, most of the professional staff with special expectation and hope to reach the highest level in the kidneys and most of them start the Organization to its progress, and achieving the highest power to make and show the importance of the benefits (Clark, 2005). It is possible that the individual attitudes and other behaviors that do not reach the efficiency and health of physical shaken. The outcome of this matter can be in the form of reduction of yield reduction and organizational task to update (Ghaderipoor, 2009). One of the most important planning measures for the Organization, attracting and maintaining and strengthening human resources and increasing their motivation and efficiency in performing the tasks assigned and improve the quality of services, the plan for defining the clientele occupational promotion path for employees.

Performance management is one of the most important mechanisms of human resources education discovering and can design and deploy performance management process by having the correct component such as the goal of effective investment, forming an interview and the end of the first volume (the one between superiors) and transfer them to staff expectations and identify training needs, expectations get and human resources education and contemplate measures necessary for providing them, the proper platform to facilitate communication and education of human resources provide interior fitted. As a result of the transformation and evolution of the performance management system of performance evaluation for that during the centuries for decades, were partially designed and expectations (organizations) the managers and employees did not provide. The performance is one of the factors is that there is no effect to the improvement of human resources, employee performance evaluation, employee performance evaluation according to the main part of the Manager's job is because through it in the case of the transfer of responsibility and tasks, and to promote an upgrade where fitted, and the transfer of judge staff training and, finally. According to human resources as production and manufacturing loaders, provide services in the Organization of the forklift is one of the fundamental ways of increasing efficiency in work-and goes to the Organization's productivity loaders.
